Black Book of Arabia: Stories By Hend Al Qassemi

A princess from Sharjah in the United Arab Emirates writes stories about women who live and love in the Middle East. These candid, moving and inspirational tales will resonate with readers around the world.

Meet a princess whose best friend literally tries to steal her wedding, down to her bridal shoes and fiancé; a bride who mysteriously goes blind on her wedding day and stays blind for years; a woman whose romantic Parisian honeymoon proves too good to be true; and a jealous wife who lures her husband into falling in love with another woman. These stories present an intimate picture of women's lives in the Middle East.

Editorial Review

Review

Sheikha Hend masterfully displays an uncanny ability for storytelling Bazaar Magazine Moving, shocking and funny - a medley of unbelievable and relatable vignettes. The Peninsula Qatar A thoughtfully curated medley of true stories that is candid, witty and refreshingly real Elan Magazine The stories leap across social class, strata and gender, zeroing on private tales of love, betrayal and heroism from across the Gulf -- Rob Garrett The National Engaging Lilly Cox, author of The Lady These are universal tales that read simply, without literary pretension, as though the stories are being passed down to us by word of mouth. Their simplicity however reveals some emotional truths about the meandering paths we take through life. The Kurios Magazine
